euNetworks Delivers Bandwidth Infrastructure to Hofmeir Media GmbH

- Supporting Hofmeir Media's expanding network infrastructure demands
- euNetworks provides fibre backbone connecting key data centres in Munich

London, UNITED KINGDOM; Frankfurt am Main, GERMANY – 29 May 2013 – euNetworks GmbH, a subsidiary of euNetworks Group Limited (SGX: H23.SI), today announced it has signed a partnership with Hofmeir Media GmbH, covering the provision of bandwidth infrastructure in Munich. Under the terms of this new multi-year agreement, euNetworks has delivered Dark Fibre services to Hofmeir Media, enabling backbone development and the connection of new data centre sites in the city.

Hofmeir Media GmbH is service company and technology provider headquartered in Munich. Today they deliver their services to small and medium sized enterprise customers through four key divisions- offering data centre and colocation in 3 locations in Munich, Internet Protocol Television (IPTV) and streaming solutions, Voice Over IP services and Retail and discounted web hosting and domain services. This new backbone is key to all of these divisions.

"As our business continues to grow, we need to make sure that our underlying infrastructure is reliable, delivers a backbone solution connecting the right places and buildings and can scale as we do," said Stefan Hofmeir, Chief Executive Officer of Hofmeir Media GmbH. "We selected euNetworks due to the quality of their network, fibre availability, product set and market reputation. Our customers rely on us for their core technology needs so our network needs to perform with that in mind. We are confident that with euNetworks as our connectivity partner, we can continue to grow our business and support our customers."

In the city of Munich, euNetworks owns and operates a densely fibred mesh-based city network that delivers scalable bandwidth services to enterprise and wholesale customers.

"We are delighted to be supporting Hofmeir Media GmbH, working with them to develop their core backbone in Munich," said Uwe Nickl, Chief Marketing Officer of euNetworks. "We appreciate the importance of both scale and quality in network infrastructure for Hofmeir's business and look forward to a long and growing relationship with them."
