The addition of the euTrade solution, which offers ultra-low latency and high availability connectivity to Europe's financial community, will provide NEURO customers with an additional choice of best-of-breed networks.

euTrade is designed to provide on-demand, all-optical connectivity between trading venues, and offers as standard contractual ultra-low latency guarantees between trading locations including NEURO. Ideally suited to mission-critical trading applications, it is now available in all key European trading locations.

"NASDAQ OMX Europe was a natural fit for our euTrade solution. They are a key driving force leading technology development in the exchanges business, offering unparalleled technology and transparency for trading. The euTrade-NEURO proposition is very strong; both companies have a wealth of financial sector experience and are focused on delivering ultra-resilient – yet highly flexible – services," said Uwe Nickl, Chief Marketing Officer of euNetworks.
